IN MEMORIAM

The theme of our 1970 Stotanian is time—the endless odyssey . . . to many of our classmates, 1969 was another step in the passage of time . . . but to Don Greenwood, time, abruptly and cruelly, came to an end in 1969 . . .

Quiet and unassuming, Donald Greenwood passed through this world for too brief a time, leaving his memory with his classmates and friends . . . A good measure of the esteem in which he was held can be seen in the record amount which the student body contributed as a remembrance and permanent memorial . . . May the passage of time ease the pain of his loss . . . May this page in the Stotonian, years hence, serve in memoriam.

HOMECOMING DAY

This year Stoughton celebrated the first Homecoming Day. The event was highlighted by the Stoughton-Foxboro football game. In addition to the football game, other features included a tribute to coaches in our grid history and the men who captained the teams; the crowning of a Homecoming Queen; with the day culminating in the Annual Senior Class Spaghetti Supper. Carol Hejduk won the honor as first Homecoming Queen in a school-wide election. Among the men saluted were SHS's two "winningest" coaches: Mr. Burke, a coach for 20 years, and Mr. Twomey, a successful coach for over 10 years.

STOUGHTON SCHOOL COMMITTEE
STOUGHTON, MASSACHUSETTS

March 23, 1970

To the Class of 1970:

As Chairman of the Stoughton School Committee and as an alumnus of the Stoughton High School, it is a great pleasure for me to convey the very best of good wishes to the members of the Class of 1970 on the completion of your high school education. On behalf of the citizens of Stoughton who are in effect represented by the School Committee, I hope that your future example and achievements reflect in their success the great investment that has been made in your future by your community. Always has your welfare been in our minds in advancing an educational program devoted to meeting your intellectual and physical needs. Excellence has been our aim in providing for your total faculty and the facilities that have been your educational home for these many years.

Preserve a sense of pride in your school, a sense of dedication to your country and a feeling of loyalty toward your classmates and faculty. Remember well your responsibility of handing on the torch of learning to succeeding generations as those of ages past have kindled that torch for you. Be true to yourselves and remember always the plight of others.

Urge through responsible community action the end of man's inhumanity to man and help to build a bridge of understanding between your generation and the generations that have preceded you.

Sincerely,

George M. Rist

March 20, 1970

To the Class of 1970:

The quest for excellence and self-fulfillment is a never-ending journey. Yours is the first graduating class to venture into the decade of the seventies, and yours represents the one-hundred and first class to be graduated from the Stoughton High School. To assume the traditions of history and to view clearly the demands of a rapidly advancing future are most important elements in your lives.

To be aware of the impress of the knowledge explosion upon your generation and future generations is a vital task for you and for the Stoughton Public Schools. Certainly you have attained an educational legacy which must be tested, improved upon and passed on to succeeding generations. For the betterment of your nation, your community and your personal lives, you must collectively and individually seek to maintain high and rational standards, along with a continuing sense of deep intellectual curiosity. Never cease to examine; never stop seeking ultimate truth.

While the attainment of a High School Diploma is a most significant event, an even more critical issue is the extent to which your involvement in and exposure to the educational experiences of the Stoughton Public School System has made you a better person. Hopefully, you have been prepared to participate actively and sensibly in our great democratic society. If you have developed a genuine concern for other people, then your diploma and your total educational experience have a really significant meaning.

In closing, may I extend to each of you my best wishes for your future success and happiness.

Sincerely,

Joseph H. Gibbons

To The Class of 1970:

Congratulations. You have just completed the first major educational step in the fulfillment of your goals. The experiences you had in the classrooms, in the auditorium, in the gymnasium, and on the athletic fields have all contributed to your training.

You have also experienced many changes in the student code of behavior. Many restrictions were modified or deleted entirely. These changes were made necessary by newer concepts of acceptable dress and behavior. We are pleased that you were able to experience these changes and that you were able to adjust so well to them.

Through the news media, your generation has also been exposed to many activities which involved students and which took place in high schools and on college campuses. You know of campus unrest, protest, dissent and, unfortunately, violence. The existence of hostility between the students and the school or college is an indication of a breakdown in communications and effective education.

These are trying times for all of us. I am very confident that the problems can be resolved to the satisfaction of the great majority. It is imperative, however, that we attempt to resolve these problems within the legal framework of our society. The use of force does not improve one's understanding and attitude. We must substitute reason for violence. We must realize that laws are a necessary part of a civilized society. We must learn to establish and maintain a real sense of values.

May I wish all of you the very best. Accept your challenges. Respect your fellow man. Have faith in yourselves and others. And you, too, will have happy and fruitful lives.
